(3) 예를 들면 알루미늄 캔을 만드는 것에서 나온 자투리들, 판지 상자나 의류, 채소를 다듬는 과정에서 나온 잘려나간 부분들, 혹은 가구를 만드는 과정에서 나온 목재나 섬유 자투리들이 있다.

(4) 그러한 '폐기물'은 과거에는 흔히 처분을 위해 보내졌지만, 점점 생산 회사들은 비용을 절감하기 위해 불필요한 절단물이나 자투리를 사용 가능한 원자재로 바꿈으로써 그것들의 내부에서 나온 '폐기물'을 재활용하고 있다.

- 1) (1) Pre-Consumer Waste is "waste" that is generated by the industrial processes used to make the products or packaging that we buy as consumers.
 - (2) This is manufacturing "waste" and is typically very clean, of consistent quality and comprises only a single material.
 - (3) Examples are: offcuts from making aluminium cans; cardboard boxes or clothing; trimmings from preparing vegetables; or wood or textile offcuts from making furniture.
 - (4) Such "waste" was in the past often sent for disposal, but increasingly producers are recycling their internal "waste" to save money by turning unwanted trimmings or offcuts back into useable raw materials.
 - (5) To send such materials for disposal is not only poor financial practice by the producer, from an environmental perspective it is criminal.
 - (6) These are good-quality, clean and easily collectable materials that just happen to be in the wrong form; so recycle or recover them!
