Dear Organizing Committee,

As the (1) _____ (2) _____ of Banpool Football Club, I am writing in (3) _____ with an (4) _____ that occurred in (5) _____'s (6) _____ between our (7) _____ and Firestone Football Club.

During the (8) _____, a (9) _____ named Karl Bellinger participated, and it has come to our (10) _____ that Bellinger is also the (11) _____ of Ironfield Football Club, a (12) _____ that has already been eliminated from this (13) _____.

Firestone Football Club has clearly violated (14) _____ (15) _____ by using a (16) _____ registered with another (17) _____.

We urge the (18) _____ to investigate this (19) _____.

I am (20) _____ that such (21) _____ may undermine the (22) _____ of the (23) _____.

I look forward to your (24) _____ regarding this (25) _____.

He found his (9) _____ and it was (10) _____ (11) _____ a (12) _____ (13) _____ with a (14) _____ (15) _____.

A (16) _____ later, the (17) _____ began to move.

Paul leaned back in his (18) _____ and smiled, looking forward to the (19) _____ ahead.

About twenty (20) _____ later, a (21) _____ in a (22) _____ walked toward him checking (23) _____.

" (24) _____, please, " said the (25) _____.

Paul reached into his pocket.

His ticket was n't there.

He searched his (26) _____, then his (27) _____. Nothing!

" I'm (28) _____. I know I bought the (29) _____, but I ca n't find it now, " said Paul, pulling his shaking (30) _____ out of the (31) _____.

Paul's (37) _____ raced, and his (38) _____ grew (39) _____.

He had no idea what to do.

Giving (1) _____ an (2) _____ (3) _____ that you know they love after a (4) _____ (5) _____ to cheer them up or soothe them can be (6) _____ but I advise you not to.

When we try to comfort a (7) _____ with (8) _____ rather than attend to their (9) _____ and (10) _____ (11) _____, we leave them feeling not understood.

Instead of learning that they'll receive (12) _____ (13) _____ and (14) _____, they receive the (15) _____ that their (16) _____ ca n't or wo n't be met appropriately.

Consequently, they understand one of the (17) _____ : that their (18) _____ are not (19) _____ ; that they are too much for their (20) _____ ; that they are being (21) _____ ; that next (22) _____ they should keep

(23) _____ ; or that they need to shout louder to be heard.

If, after tending to your (24) _____'s (25) _____ and (26) _____ (27) _____ you want to offer some (28) _____, (29) _____ (30) _____ or a (31) _____ to a (32) _____ - (33) _____ (34) _____, that is, of (35) _____ completely (36) _____ — but it must not replace the (37) _____.

Our (6) _____ combine the overlapping (7) _____ from our two (8) _____ into a (9) _____ (10) _____.

A (11) _____ could do the same across a hundred (12) _____, but that seems (13) _____ given how (14) _____ its (15) _____ is.

Instead, each (16) _____ might simply tell the (17) _____ whether it has detected something moving or not.

Think of the (18) _____'s (19) _____ as a (20) _____ (21) _____ watching a (22) _____ of a hundred (23) _____, each connected to a (24) _____ - sensing (25) _____.

The (26) _____ may be (27) _____ - of - the - (28) _____, but the (29) _____ they capture are not sent to the (30) _____.

All the (31) _____ sees on the (32) _____ is a (33) _____ (34) _____ for every (35) _____ that has spotted something.

If Speiser is (36) _____ about this (37) _____ (38) _____, it means that even though each (39) _____ (40) _____ (41) _____ has (42) _____ (43) _____ (44) _____, the (45) _____ itself might not have (46) _____ (47) _____.

It knows when (48) _____ in a (49) _____ (50) _____ of its (51) _____ have detected something, but it has no (52) _____ (53) _____ of that (54) _____.

It does n't experience a (55) _____ in its (56) _____ the same (57) _____ we do.

It sees without scenes.

In some (1) _____, (2) _____ generate themselves — they are (3) _____, (4) _____, (5) _____ - organizing (6) _____.

Of course, it is actually (7) _____ who create (8) _____, either individually or as organized into (9) _____, (10) _____, and other (11) _____.

But, for the most part, they do so unintentionally as they go about their (12) _____ (13) _____.

They move to satisfy (14) _____ (15) _____ (16) _____ drop the (17) _____ off at (18) _____, get to work, find a (19) _____ for a (20) _____ (21) _____ (22) _____, build a (23) _____ to live in.

They do not intend to build a city ; that just happens.

Even though, along the (24) _____, there are many (25) _____ of (26) _____, these tend to be (27) _____, (28) _____, or (29) _____.

So, ultimately, a (30) _____ emerges as the (31) _____ (32) _____ of many (33) _____ (34) _____, most of which are not intended to be (35) _____ (36) _____.

But the (37) _____ of (38) _____ are intended to guide the (39) _____ of the (40) _____, and these, to be (41) _____, must rely on an (42) _____ of the (43) _____ by which the (44) _____ generates itself.

The (1) _____ - (2) _____ (3) _____ separates the (4) _____ from its (5) _____, and in (6) _____ part, removes (7) _____ from the (8) _____.

Thus, it misleadingly partitions (13) _____ ' from (14) _____ ' (15) _____, giving (16) _____ to the former.

Therefore, (17) _____ is denied because (18) _____ ' (19) _____ behave to enhance their (20) _____ in the (21) _____ (22) _____ ' (23) _____ and love, (24) _____, (25) _____ and other (26) _____ flow through and from (27) _____.

With this there can be no creativity.

The (28) _____ is a (29) _____ of its (30) _____.

This is evidently (31) _____ because, if there is a (32) _____, it must be the (33) _____, locked in the (34) _____ and obeying its will.

It is the (35) _____ as a (36) _____ - organising (37) _____ that has (38) _____ and uses (39) _____ in its (40) _____ to act.

The (41) _____ ' (42) _____ ' has its (43) _____ in defining (44) _____ as (45) _____ - organising (46) _____, going back at least to Immanuel Kant's 1790 Critique of Judgement.

It is also (11) _____ noting that in (12) _____ of Robbins, (13) _____ does not deal with the (14) _____ as to what ends should be achieved, that is, what wants should be (15) _____ and what not, because in this (16) _____ (17) _____ himself has to decide.

Economics itself does not make a choice.

(18) _____ only tells in what (19) _____ the given (20) _____ or wants can be achieved with the (21) _____ (22) _____ (23) _____.
